IN GOOD COMPANY

2025
Member Recognition
Report

As 2024 came to a close, Georgia once again earned the title of the nation's Top State for Business—an impressive distinction for the 11th consecutive year. This recognition speaks not only to Georgia's economic strength but also to its culture of generosity, exemplified in this year's In Good Company report.

At goBeyondProfit, we are proud to champion this spirit of business generosity in Georgia. Our annual survey of executives revealed that 92% of businesses plan to maintain or increase their investments in generosity. Even more compelling, nine out of ten leaders shared a common motivation: giving back is simply the right thing to do. This commitment doesn't just feel good – it delivers results. Executives report clear links between generosity and employee satisfaction, with nearly half also citing financial benefits as a driving factor.

Beyond the data, our conversations with CEOs underscored a powerful insight: a purpose-driven culture fuels alignment between strategy, operations, and the people who bring businesses to life. This synergy fosters not only generosity but also resilience and long-term success.

As we step into 2025, we celebrate Georgia's business community. Together, we are building a future where generosity and success go hand in hand. Thank you for your continued commitment to improving lives and going beyond profit.

Wishing you a prosperous and generous new year,

goBeyondProfit

The 2024 Business Generosity Report unearthed a surprising trend – 67% of employees currently are or would be willing to accept lower compensation if it meant a better quality of life.

2-OUT-OF-3
EMPLOYEES WILL SACRIFICE COMPENSATION FOR A BETTER QUALITY OF LIFE

Five years after receiving the inaugural goBeyondProfit Champion Award, Kevin Greiner, CEO of Gas South, reflected on how generosity in business strengthens organizations during times of significant growth and change.

When you're a founder and a CEO, you don't have to change your business model. You just find a purpose that fits perfectly into your racks and inspires your team."

Dana Spinola, Founder and CEO, fab'rik

In tribute, we honor our Founding Ambassador for goBeyondProfit, Bernie Marcus, who issued a challenge to fellow business leaders and offered them a road map for leading with generosity across a lifetime.

I think being a generous company is truly multifaceted. Our employees love it because they feel like they have a sense of purpose coming to Gas South. Our customers see us as a company that really leans into the community. And we are seen as a leader in our industry in part because of how we lean into community engagement.”

Kevin Greiner, CEO, Gas South

WHERE EXECUTIVES ARE INCREASING GENEROSITY INVESTMENTS

One of the major benefits of the Business Generosity Report is the glimpse into where fellow CEOs, founders, and senior executives are investing resources.

goBeyondProfit

CHAMPIONS

This year, fab'rik joined more than a dozen companies as a goBeyondProfit Champion and we looked back at our first-ever Champion, Gas South, to honor their continued commitment to generosity.
